Echoes of None

Echoes of None is a suspenseful and mysterious journey into the unknown. Follow Aires, a man haunted by an unrelenting hum that resonates within him, pulling him toward answers he isn't sure he's ready to face. As he navigates a world filled with cryptic symbols, otherworldly energies, and a magnetic stranger named Dai, Aires must confront not only the mysteries of the universe but also the truths buried deep within himself.

Chapter 1: The Echo Before the Fall

The hum came first. It always did. Low, resonant, and impossible to ignore, it filled Aires's ears, vibrating in his chest and settling into his bones like an ancient rhythm he was born knowing. He sat up abruptly, the sheets clinging to his sweat-slicked body, his breath coming in uneven gasps. The dark room around him was silent, save for that hum. It wasn't a sound you could describe; it was felt—like a presence, a pulse just beneath the surface of existence...

Chapter 2: Resonance and Desire

The bar was dimly lit, its air thick with the smell of whiskey, smoke, and faint traces of perfume. Aires stepped inside, the door creaking behind him as he adjusted to the hazy interior. Neon signs buzzed faintly overhead, their light casting strange shadows on the cracked leather booths and worn wooden floors. The hum had quieted slightly but remained a steady vibration, a persistent reminder of its presence. Then, he saw her...
